Dear Maxim

On behalf of MSIF's People with MS Advisory Committee, thank you so much for your participation in the 2017 James Wolfensohn Award for International Person with MS.

Awarded every two years, the Wolfensohn Award is the highest accolade bestowed by MSIF upon an individual with MS who has made a truly outstanding and exceptional contribution to the worldwide fight against MS.

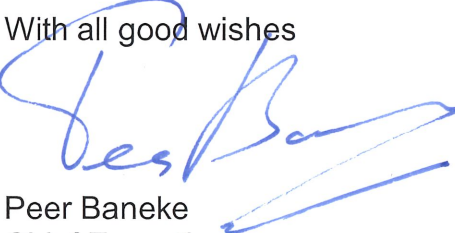

This year we had a number of excellent and deserving nominees from the national MS societies of Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Japan, Spain, the United Kingdom, Uruguay and, of course, Russia, with the judges declaring them all MS heroes in their own way. It was not easy to decide on a winner as all the nominees displayed remarkable qualities, however, the Committee has decided to present Ms Kyoko Nakata from Japan with the 2017 Award.

It is an incredible achievement to be recommended by your national MS society, and you are clearly universally appreciated by your peers at RuMSS for your inspiring commitment, generosity and strength.

In recognition of your achievements, we would like to share your inspiring story as a Wolfensohn Award nominee through MSIF's communication channels.

We are delighted to enclose a certificate acknowledging your achievements, and send you our warmest admiration and congratulations.

With all good wishes

Peer Baneke
